

Peachtree Hills Place

A Residential Community Offering a Continuum of Care

Team Members

E. Andrew (Andy) Isakson

Founder and Partner of Isakson-Barnhart, Andy Isakson has more than 25 years of experience in commercial and residential real estate in Atlanta and throughout the Southeast. Since his mother passed away seven years ago, the victim of Alzheimer's disease, he has taken a leadership role in the development of senior residential communities in Georgia. Considered a leader in the field, Mr. Isakson was tapped to speak at the National Association of Home Builders' Seniors Housing Symposium 2005 on the use of technology in senior communities. He currently serves as chairman of the Advisory Board for the Center for Health in Aging at Emory University. A graduate of Vanderbilt University, Mr. Isakson spent eight years in the commercial real estate brokerage business at Northside Realty and Associates where he received the Atlanta Board of Real Estate's highest commercial real estate award, the Alvin B. Cates award. Mr. Isakson is also the co-founder of Kid's Health, Inc., a Georgia-based not-for-profit that provides a health awareness curriculum for Georgia school children.

David Barnhart

David Barnhart is Co-Founder and Managing Partner of Isakson-Barnhart. A graduate of the University of Florida, Mr. Barnhart went on to become an honor graduate of the U.S. Army Aviation School in Ft. Rucker, Ala. He served in a direct support helicopter company in South Vietnam, earning a promotion to 1st Lieutenant, until he completed his Army tour in 1972. In 1973, Mr. Barnhart was one of the founding staff members of Coldwell Banker's commercial real estate office in Atlanta, the company's first venture east of the Mississippi River. Since then, he has been a general partner or development partner for more than 20 commercial real estate developments in the Southeast. Mr. Barnhart is especially well known for his skill in the areas of site selection and anchor/tenant relationships. His depth of experience and proven abilities in development, marketing and finance are essential to the success of Peachtree Hills Place. Mr. Barnhart is an active participant in the Southeastern Guide Dogs organization's efforts to supply guide dogs to Georgia's blind community. He has served on the Board of Directors for the Endowment Fund for Southeastern Guide Dogs for the past 10 years and has recently rejoined the Board of Directors for the Southeastern Guide Dog School.

Kevin Isakson

Kevin Isakson, Director of Sales and Marketing for Isakson-Barnhart, led the sales and marketing efforts of the company's flagship community, Park Springs® in Stone Mountain, through its first and second phases. While continuing to oversee efforts at Park Springs, he also is guiding the team at Peachtree Hills Place through strategic planning, execution and sales in the marketing and development of the community. Mr. Isakson currently serves on the Advisory Committee for the Atlanta Area Agency on Aging, a division of the Atlanta Regional Commission. He chaired DeKalb County's Senior Advisory Council and served on the board of Senior Connections, a provider of quality services to the elderly in DeKalb County. He also served on the boards of the East Cobb YMCA and Friends for the East Cobb Park. A 1995 graduate of the University of Georgia, Isakson received his real estate license in 1997.

Julie Isakson Mitchell

Director of Marketing and Community Relations for Isakson-Barnhart's Peachtree Hills PlaceSM, Julie Isakson Mitchell is leading the effort to sell the 274 independent residences in Atlanta's newest residential community offering a continuum of care. Mitchell most recently served as Residency Counselor at Park Springs in Stone Mountain, Isakson-Barnhart's first nationally recognized continuing care retirement center. Her experience also includes directing the marketing efforts of the Georgia Transplant Foundation and Big Brothers and Big Sisters of Metro Atlanta. Previously, she served as a public relations manager for Creaxion and Idea Associates, both Atlanta-based marketing agencies. Mitchell has served on the Shepherd Center Advisory Board since 2001 and on the Executive Board of the Shepherd Center Junior Committee from 1998 to 2001. A graduate of The University of Georgia, Mitchell currently resides in Brookhaven.

#